ANOTHER YACHT RACE
FRANCE WORRIED
TO FLY HIGH
SOUL SEARCHING WEEK

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LEADING ALL THE WAY, Harold Vanderbilt, and his American defender, the yacht, Enterprise, yesterday won the second international race easily. Some serious accident, or a miracle, would be needed to give Lipton the victory, which millions of Americans heartily wish he might have.

FRANCE WORRIES about the German elections, threatening the stability of Hindenburg's government, and the era of what may be called German submissiveness.

Hitler, the new power in Germany, advocates abrogation of treaties, with disregard of the Versailles agreement, and he preaches radical anti-semitism.

The hope of the conservatives in Germany and in France is that moderate German radicals will act with the Hindenburg party to prevent control by Hitler.

The wise French, who look ahead, and were not taken by surprise in 1914, are probably surprised now. It is not for nothing that they have accumulated two billion dollars in gold, and built the world's most powerful air fleet, that within 24 hours notice could strike destructively at every German city.

FOKKER HAS BUILT, secretly, an airplane with its motors in the wing. Intended for pursuit plane work, the construction will minimize air resistance.

And engineers, serious men, not dreamers, according to the "Sportsman Pilot," plan an automobile to fly high up in the atmosphere where no man can breathe, with air pressure reduced to almost nothing.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND FEET up there exists a very different atmosphere from the heavy air down here, so different that the atmosphere itself could be used for fuel.

The flying crew would manufacture breathing material for their own lungs and for the engine.

A speed of 3,000 miles an hour is actually suggested, which is called reasonable, with air resistance almost entirely lacking. One thousand miles an hour, the sun's apparent speed, and around the world in 25 hours, would be fast enough.

If Wall Street interests you, as a stock owner or a ticker watcher, this is a week for soul-searching. In this week of September, a year ago, we all suddenly discovered that things that go up can also come down. After a continuous three year advance, prices began to crumble. Broken hearts and bank accounts can tell "How 'How are thou fallen, Lucifer."

SIX INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASHES

Children Of Man Who Made Brew

The above photo, left to right, shows August, 11; Irma, 10; Charlotte, 5; Mrs. DeBlock; Mary, 14; and Germaine, 9, as they read the predicament of Simon DeBlock (insert) of Calavia, Ill., husband and father, while he is in jail for making home brew. DeBlock was fined $500 and sentenced to serve six months behind the bars. Unless he can raise the money to pay the fine, he will have to work it out at the rate of $1.50 a day. Now a move is on to take away his children on the ground that a home where the prohibition law is violated is not a fit one for children.

MCCULLOCH AIDS OPEN CAMPAIGN

Complete Republican Vote Necessary At Fall Elections, Claim

Determined to spare no effort to win the Ohio senatorial election for Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, a "McCulloch-for-senator" committee, composed of Ohio business leaders, has been appointed to assist the state Republican committee in bringing to the attention of voters the importance of the election of a complete Republican ticket next November.

Included on the committee are Louis H. Brush of Salem and William H. Vordrey of East Liverpool. Announcement of the formation of the committee was made by Simon D. Fess, chairman of the National Republican committee during a conference of state and national party leaders at Cleveland, Saturday afternoon.

Brush, together with Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, State Director of Commerce Edward Schorr, F. F. Taggart of Massillon, Maurice Maschke of Cleveland, and other prominent Ohioans, were present at the rally.

Senator McCulloch's candidacy will be backed on the basis that his election will be required for the support of President Herbert Hoover's program, contemplated as the backbone of the national committee's campaign this fall. All present at the Saturday conference expressed confidence that the entire Ohio Republican ticket will win in November.

McCulloch is opposed by Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, an avowed opponent of prohibition.

Grocery Sues For Grass Seed Bill

The Smith Co. grocery, East State street, has filed an action in common pleas court, Lisbon against J. H. Sutherland and others, of the Canadian-American Ltd., to recover a balance of $398 claimed to be due on an account for seeds purchased by defendants.

The seed was purchased by Sutherland for the purpose of sowing grass at Reilly athletic stadium here. The balance of the account, asked by the company in the suit, was not paid after Sutherland claimed the sowing of grass at the field with the seed was not successful.

ABOARD U. S. S. KANE OFF NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 16.—The fear they might be unable to attempt another non-stop airplane crossing of the Pacific from Japan to Tacoma, Wash., was expressed today by Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty.

Bromley, Tacoma aviator, who for more than a year had sought to claim for himself the distinction of being the first man to span the Pacific in a heavier than air craft, said lack of finances might compel him to abandon the flight.

"I am unable at this time to make a definite statement, however," he declared.

Gatty, an Australian, who joined Bromley in the capacity of co-pilot and navigator, was frank in expressing his belief the flight must be abandoned.

In an effort to "promote more widespread participation in various extra-curricular activities, a Students Activities association membership campaign is being conducted at Salem High school this week.

White Favors Bulkley In Columbus Address

PROHIBITION NOT PARTY ISSUE, HE TELLS ASSEMBLY

Praises Character During Address Before Ohio Democratic Meet

TAX PROBLEM SAID TO BE PARAMOUNT

Cooper Expenses Also In For Criticism When Nominie Speaks

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16.—Asserting the Democratic party "is a party of free men, a party in which men may differ on some important question, be in accord on fundamentals and still be Democrats," George White, dry gubernatorial candidate, told the state platform convention here today that by endorsing without reservation the candidacy of Robert J. Bulkley, senatorial candidate, an advocate of national prohibition repeal.

White's unqualified endorsement of Bulkley's candidacy was made after he had praised the senatorial nominee as a man of "fine character, sterling qualities and recognized ability."

The overshadowing state issue, White declared is taxation with growth of governmental expenditures second of importance. No satisfactory solution of the taxation problem is possible, he said, "if this rapid increase in the cost of government is to continue." He said he proposed to see that expenditures are materially reduced, if elected.

Contending that perhaps the most important phase of the tax problem is readjustment of rates, White said: "I shall insist that those sponsoring this vital question shall keep faith with the taxpayers and make substantial reductions in taxes."

"The time is here when taxes must be reduced. Farmers are prostrate, business and industry is at a standstill. We have reached that period when a bona fide effort must be made to reduce taxes within the capacity of the people to pay."

On the second issue, rapid growth of state expenditures, White said: "I assert here and now that the present state administration with all its self-praised and profligate promises is a mere hollow shell, guided without and empty within, and that its chief characteristics are efforts by Governor Cooper to deceive the public while subordinates play politics and raid the state treasury."

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH IN BLAZE

Fifth Probably Fatally Injured In Fire At Virginia Home

WARRENTON, VA., Sept. 16.—Four persons were burned to death and another probably fatally injured in a fire which swept the home of Mrs. J. M. Wells near here today.

Three of the Wells children, aged 5, 7 and 9 years, were killed by the flames, and a Mrs. Hall, of North Carolina, an aunt of Mrs. Wells, also died in the flames.

The children, George, Francis and John Stewart Wells, were asleep on the second floor when an oil stove exploded in the kitchen, setting fire to the house. Another child leaped from a second-floor window and escaped.

It was learned that Mrs. Wells had arisen early to prepare breakfast before setting out with her family and Mrs. Hall for a trip to North Carolina. As she was lighting the oil stove it exploded, burning her so severely that she was unable to warn the children.

Mrs. Wells was rushed to a hospital, where physicians says she has a slight chance of recovery.

OFFICIALS TELL OF SITE CHOICE OF HIGH SCHOOL

Reasons For Action Are Listed; Advantages Are Held Many

(This is one of series of articles contributed by school authorities dealing with the proposed bond issue for a new high school building.)

When a high school building is erected in a small city it must be as near the center as possible so that the distances will not be greater for those living on one side than on another. The site chosen for the proposed Salem high school meets that requirement.

Since physical education has been made such an important part of the curriculum by custom and by law, there will be a great advantage in having the building adjacent to Reilly field so that exercises may be given in the open air when the weather is pleasant.

It is very important also that the building be near the athletic field on account of the contests which are held there. Students may get quickly to the showers, and have a warm retreat at intermissions in cold weather.

Consider Many Sites
The board of education considered many sites as to location, cost, and general desirability and decided that this was the best. It is hoped that in time the board may acquire the properties on Lincoln avenue and thus have the whole corner.

While the surroundings at present do not seem satisfactory, a new building such as this will make the land more valuable and the whole vicinity will soon be changed for the better. This is a section of the city which needs improvement and the erection of a beautiful school building will soon have a beautiful influence on the whole area.

This site is nearer also to the public library and, since high school pupils make much use of that institution, there is a decided advantage in the location.

Cost Is Moderate
Architects have made preliminary plans for a building on this plot and the board is assured of a beautiful, commodious and useful structure at moderate cost on this site.

These preliminary plans have provided for 25 class rooms for academic work, six vocational rooms, an auditorium to seat one thousand, a gymnasium with a playing floor of standard size with seats for spectators accommodating two thousand, a swimming pool 24 by 100, a small cafeteria, Physics, Chemical, and Biological laboratories, study room, administration offices, built in lockers, a radio in each room, and all modern conveniences and equipment.

Considering all these reasons, we feel that the board of education has made a wise selection.

FAMOUS ACTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Milton Sills Made Debut In East Palestine Theater In 1906

SANTA MONICA, CAL., Sept. 16. Death today had cut short the career of Milton Sills, widely known stage and motion picture actor.

Sills, for years noted for his realistic portrayal of virile types, succumbed to a heart attack on the tennis court of his home in Brentwood heights late yesterday.

An interest in amateur theatricals put Sills behind the footlights. A prominent producer witnessed one of his performances and persuaded him to take up acting as a vocation.

Success came quickly to the young scholar and after a debut in "Dora Thorne" in 1906 in East Palestine, Ohio, he soon became Broadway's matinee idol.

Pilmdom first drew Sills in 1914. At the time he was appearing on the legitimate stage after abandoning a promising academic career as a graduate student, instructor and fellow in philosophy at the University of Chicago.

His theatrical career saw Sills rise to leading roles on Broadway 20 years ago.

Miss Mary Groner, 19, of Columbiana, lacerations about the head and face.

Mrs. Anna Groner, 45, of Columbiana, cuts about the head and face.

All in City Hospital here where it is reported they will recover.

The party was enroute to this city for a visit with Mrs. Howard Groner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Derr, East Fifth street.

Approaching a hill east of Salem, Mrs. Groner saw the Akron machine skidding on the slippery highway and attempted to drive her own car from the road in efforts to avoid a collision, police here stated. The approaching car sideswiped Mrs. Groner's machine, forcing it off the highway into a ditch.

Rev. F. S. Eastman, a former Salem pastor and now residing in Akron, was a passenger in the second car. He sustained slight cuts and bruises as did the driver. Her name was not learned.

The women and child were taken to the hospital here immediately following the mishap by passing motorists.

Truck Upsets On Road
Clyde Blanchard and son, Chester, of Freeburg, were injured when the car driven by the father upset in front of the home of C. P. Rothel in Damascus yesterday.

Blanchard was driving a truck loaded with pigs which he was taking to the Columbiana county fair at Lisbon. One wheel of the truck got off the pavement, causing the truck to upset.

GOING TO COLLEGE

A few more weeks and older brothers and sisters will be as busy getting educated as Johnny and Mary back home in elementary and high schools. In fact, someone has estimated that very close to a half million young people will pack and go away to college for the first time this fall.

Already the sport pages are filled with stories of the advance collegiate guard-the football players, hard at work to build the teams that will thrill crowds later in the fall.

Out of the half million new students, probably 50,000 will have given up their dreams of college education before it is time to start their second year. During the second year there will be an even larger number that will leave college, discouraged, incompetent or unable to finance themselves. After four years of work and play there will be perhaps, 125,000 left to walk past college president and be presented with diplomas. These estimates are based on the rather indefinite records of past years.

Why do so many thousands drop out of college? What is the obstacle they meet in their first and second years?

There are a number of things, but not so many that each prospective college student could not understand them before he starts his course. First of all, a college education is up to the student. There are no truant officers, no attendance laws and, with the exception of some of the smaller colleges, no instructors with sufficient time to watch the details of one's progress. In college, education is to be had for the seeking; it is not forced as it may have been in high schools. Students who have not convinced themselves that they want and need education inevitably fail by the wayside.

Another reason why students drop out of their college classes is inability to see that they are getting a reasonable return on their outlay of time and money. Still another reason, and not a pleasant one, is that the student may have overrated his ability; college work may be more than he can handle. In this class may also be placed the student who goes to college because it is the thing to do. Unfortunately, he is handled with care and tact by some educators, who reason, evidently, that they can do society a service by exposing him to the germ of education over a prolonged period.

Perhaps nothing can be done about it, but too many people who should be there are kept away from universities and too many who have no place there, are cluttering up classrooms. A lack of understanding on one side and lack of opportunity on another cause a great educational and economic loss every year. It might be lessened if each new student would ask himself this question and try to answer it honestly: "What do I expect to get out of college?"

What Others Say

PERSONALITY LESSONS

At New York university a new course is to be offered in "personality development." Education is more and more leading to the improvement of conduct, habits and ideals, and less toward the mere imparting of facts. The tendency which began with letting very young children learn by doing rather than by being taught has spread through the high schools and reached the colleges. In kindergarten they do not learn their letters. They play with blocks and sand piles. A few years later they act out the stories they read instead of copying history. College has remained the last stronghold of the "grind," though there are plenty of students to whom it is merely a place for having a good time and making useful "contacts." Now it has climbed on the resounding band wagon with a course in "dominating."

It may be, as those in charge of this course say, that even in such technical lines as engineering success is due "fifteen per cent to technical knowledge and eighty-five per cent to those human qualities which have to do with successfully dealing with people." But the young engineer, full of charm and somewhat lacking in technical knowledge, who gets along well in business will have said of him that luck played a large part in his success. Luck is something that no college man has yet tried to hang round his students' necks like a talisman. Yet it is no harder to teach a youth to be lucky than to give him an agreeable personality.

If the new course really means what those who enroll will imagine it means, this series of lectures seems too much like a medicine man's incantation. By example, by surrounding a boy with gentle, generous, kindly people, by instructing him in polite usage, he may be taught to be well-mannered. But can he be taught to be tactful? The feeling for pleasant manners may be acquired. A quick, perceptive mind and a tender heart can be purchased even with years of study. If the plan is to help students correct obvious weaknesses in their dealing with others, it may be of use to some of them, and the professors who point out faults will be as unpopular as "best friends" whose chief duty is frankness. But it is impossible, and to some minds undesirable, to educate young men and women to be charming and magnetic and dominating and full of "personality."—New York Times.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, September 17

The astrological prospects are particularly gratifying and auspicious making for eventful and lively operations in both business and personal activities. With affairs well directed, since there may be a tendency to precipitate and turbulence, there is forecast for splendid advancement or recognition, with finances under a sign of increase and stability, attended by opportunity for fresh adventures and alliances. Social, domestic and affectional contacts are also under a benignant rulership.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of splendid openings and expansive enterprise with promise of new and desirable connections and a stabilizing of the fortunes as well as personal preferment or advancement. But these might possibly be lessened by rash, tumultuous or impulsive actions. Personal activities should also flourish and engage much attention. A child born on this day should have a splendid and versatile equipment for success and happiness in life, being endowed with business, intellectual and social talents and graces.

In a word, to appear an honest man it is necessary to be one.—Bolleau.

NEW YORK

Day by Day

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A former newspaper columnist, who as a reporter never had the world in flames, recently crocheted a sign for the pasting of capable newspaper reporters. He sprinkled a glistening of tears through several pages of a national magazine.

Many swan songs are sung for the present day reporter with depressing means for "the good old days." I belong to that remote era and would like to sob too, but the tears would be crocodilian. The modern newspaper story is 10 city blocks ahead of those of 20 years ago.

And that goes for the Sun in the days of Dana. The reporter today not only has a better style, a brighter perspective, but assembles facts more expertly. He also works under greater pressure and is more reliable. The hard drinking scribe is out like a light.

It is true old time reporters such as Will Irwin, Irvin Cobb, Albert Payson Terhune, Frank Ward O'Malley, Don Clarke and others have gone to bigger literary endeavors, bless them, but it is equally true reporters in the last 10 years are doing even bigger things.

Fifty per cent of Broadway's successful plays, spectacular movies and talkies and current best selling novels are being written by men and women reporters only a few years ago. Two of the ablest theatrical producers and the head of the biggest film company are in this illustrious list.

Schools of journalism—those of us who began running copy may shrug all we like—are turning out a higher grade product, men and women with better educational equipment and worthier ideals. Too many of us in "the good old days" were more interested in loose Saturday nights than reporting.

The journalistic school cub knows more about the game when he yanks his first doorknob than the old time cub could learn in a year. The 25-year-old managing editor is no longer "the boy wonder" in the newspaper or magazine field, and I don't want to hear any more about it.

Newspaper work, however, had none of the exciting quality called romance than that today. Efficiently squeezed out the charm so easily glorified in tales by Richard Harding Davis. Save for Floyd Gibbons, no recent reporter suggests the swashbuckler. The modern cub would look perfectly at home at glass-topped desks, surrounded by adding machines.

A burley cop on a charger was keeping crowds back at a Fifth avenue corner while a parade passed. "Go ahead and get back!" he roared.

Last night for the first time in years I heard a diner exclaim: "Shet that doah!" It originated in negro settlements and its suddenness was so realistic you could almost hear the plink-plank of the banjo and shuffle of bare feet. When a tasty dish was served in cabins it was a cry of delight—and to keep moochers out.

An American, living 30 years in China, returned to New York recently to remain. After a month he set off for the Orient again, having lived so long among Chinese servants he could no longer dress or undress himself.

A dozen times this morning a man peeped out of an apartment hotel, across the way to scan the skies and hold out his hand for rain although the sun was in effulgence. At his last appearance I said to my wife: "He has made up his mind it will rain." A half hour later New York was drenched with the heaviest torrent in years. All the conveniences in our block—including a human barometer.

Salad dressing is a recent important development of domestic science. A person who can trim a salad plate appetizingly and attractively gets on in the world. At a dinner last night was an alligator pear salad like something by Fragonard. The pears were a beach around a lake of aqua-marine dressing with birds carved of cheese looking into the lake. It was designed by a specialist who receives $12,000 a year and inspired the gentleman to shriek: "Shet that doah!"

It is too bad a salad designer cannot be hooked up on the radio. Still I have a lot of worrying to do before I can get around to that.

Lisbon Visions Need

Of Sewage Plant

LISEON, Sept. 16.—It soon will be necessary to erect a sewage disposal plant here, according to the view of city officials.

This fact was brought out when a contract was awarded to M. A. Connelly of Youngstown, by the village council for the construction of a new sewage system.

Connelly was the lowest of 13 proposals entered, and his bid of $6,234.20 was $4,132.90 under the estimate of $10,367.10.

This new sewer will begin at Cherry and East High street and will be constructed eastward to Pritchard avenue thence along a line extending into the middle fork of Beaver creek.

Near the entrance of this sewer into the creek a site has been made available for the erection of a sewage disposal plant.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

DON'T NEGLECT CHILLS

Many persons regard illness and disease far too lightly. Too many neglect a chill, a headache, utter weariness and even pain. Nothing is done because it does not seem convenient to give time to getting well.

Perhaps the most of us do not appreciate good health until we lose it. It is a mistake to spend too much time thinking about your state of health. But it is wise to heed Nature's warning and quickly act when some indisposition attacks you.

Pleurisy is a disintegrable ailment. An attack, though painful, may not be serious. Other attacks are very serious indeed.

Worry Lowers Vitality

Worry and hard work lower the vitality. Cold exposure to the weather and failure are frequent causes of pleurisy.

It is a disease that usually accompanies pneumonia, or other attacks upon the lung tissue. It has a relationship to tuberculosis.

I tell you this so that you will realize the importance of the disease. It may be a warning to take the steps necessary for recovery from a pleurisy attack.

The disease is really an inflammation of the "pleura." This tissue is the membrane that covers the inside walls of the chest cavity. In this space are located the lungs and these, too, are covered by pleural tissue.

The Symptoms of Pleurisy

In an adult, when the attack is not a complication of some other disease, it begins with chilliness, fever, headaches and a bad pain in the side. It is a very sharp stabbing pain, running from front to back. It may take the form of a stitch in the side, following one or more of the nerves which run between the ribs. The doctor, with his ear, to the chest, detects friction in breathing. There may be accumulation of fluid in the chest. If not, the symptoms will soon disappear.

While some attacks are painful, though not serious, there are others where the accumulation of fluid, or "effusion" is very great. This condition is a serious matter.

A most important factor in the treatment of the disease is quiet rest in bed. The doctor will see that the chest is banded or strapped so as to restrict the motion of the chest in breathing. This procedure will lessen the pain.

I want to make it very clear that pleurisy should not be neglected. If your doctor tells you that you have this condition and advises you to keep quiet, you should do exactly as he says. Help Nature all you can by assisting her in the process of getting well.

LINGLE SUSPECT HELD IN PRISON

Man Jailed In Louisville Thought To Be Killer Of Reporter

(By Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16.—Admission that he is Theodore (Ted) Geisinger, but deny that he knows anything of the Lingle murder in Chicago was made here today by a suspect picked up on a vagrancy charge.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16.—Held in custody on a charge of murder, a man believed to be Ted Geisinger, suspected slayer of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, was in a detective bureau cell here today awaiting identification by Chicago authorities.

With the man believed to be Geisinger was a companion whom authorities have identified as his brother, Alex, who is sought in Indiana for a series of crimes. The suspects gave their names as Emerald and Stanley Harris.

The pair were arrested on suspicion when they arrived in Louisville in a roadster bearing Georgia license plates.

Inquiry in Chicago revealed that an Emerald Harris had operated a saloon there until the assassination of Lingle. The saloon was abruptly closed when Lingle was killed and its owner vanished.

The arrest of the supposed Geisinger and his brother led to the arrest of two women, one of them identified as Geisinger's bride. She gave her name as Mrs. Emerald Harris. They were taken in custody at a river camp and were released before police identified the men in connection with the Lingle murder.

AVIATORS FIND ARCTIC GRAVES

Advance Theories As To Deaths Of Band Of Explorers Who In North Years Ago

EDMONTON, ALTA., Sept. 16.—Returning from his flight to King William Island, Major L. T. Burwash, Canadian explorer today advanced the theory that Sir John Franklin and his 128 men perished on the arctic islands 85 years ago while backtracking to their ships after a vain attempt to march overland to civilization.

This theory, he said, was substantiated by the discovery of sites of camps of the lost explorers and groups of graves. Relics of the expedition, broadcloth, tent material and rope were recovered. No trace was found of the Franklin ships, the Erebus and Terror believed to have been wrecked along the western shore of the island.

In addition to his flight to King William Island, Major Burwash and his pilot, W. E. Gilbert, mapped more than 2,000 miles of coastline within the arctic circle, made an inspection of copper claims in the far north and landed at the magnetic pole to check a possible shifting of the pole.

FRANCE WORRIED OVER LABORERS

Problems Of Immigration Appear As Italians Flood Country

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Italian laborers in France have become so numerous and have yet remained so unassimilated that the French are waking up to the fact that this country has an immigration problem on its hands.

While these laborers are in many ways desirable in districts of France where native laborers are scarce, they remain undesirable because of their intense patriotism.

They stay only long enough to make a certain amount of money to take back to their own country, they buy their stores from their own countrymen, give their entire allegiance to Italy, and only use France as a provider of money.

Italy itself has very rigid laws to protect itself from any foreign laborers from France or elsewhere. A movement is now being suggested to raise a similar barrier in France against Italians.

Decrease Shown In Auto Thefts

LISBON, Sept. 16.—Severity of sentences passed down during the last few years by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones is believed by Prosecuting Atty. John E. Bauknecht to be the reason for the "lull" in automobile stealing.

The September grand jury is the first in many years that returned no indictments for auto thefts. Many such indictments have been returned by each preceding grand jury.

"I am convinced that severe sentences to the Ohio penitentiary and the Mansfield reformatory is the reason that automobile stealing in Columbiana county is on the decline," Prosecutor Bauknecht declared.

"If this be the case, severe sentences have proved to be a good thing for the community. The court has always told such offenders that property of other people should not be taken, and that when young men do steal automobiles, and, caught, they may expect just what the law provides."

BLAZE DESTROYS FLOATING STILL

Federal Men Think Fire Aboard Craft Was Incendiary

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—The charred hull of the Stern-Wheeler steamboat Illinois lay at the bottom of the Mississippi river today, supposedly burned by incendiaries who sought to cover up the operation of the old craft as a floating distillery.

Just as federal prohibition agents were about to investigate the boat it disappeared from a dock at Alton, Ill., early yesterday and was sent floating down the river, a tow-ering mass of flames.

It was the first floating distillery ever to come to the attention of federal operatives here, and they suspect it was the largest source of alcohol hereabouts. Estimates of its daily capacity ranged 600 to 1,600 gallons.

The old vessel had a long and honorable career on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, first as a packet and later as a fish and game conservation boat. It was equipped with large tanks, formerly used to carry live fish.

Today's Pattern

With a simple little coat of cloth, you may form attractive dresses for your small girl. This straight model has a long rolled collar that is very easy to make, and most becoming. One, or two, buttons and loops may be attached for the fastening.

Pattern 1840 makes up smartly in serge, covert cloth, broadcloth, lightweight tweed or kasha. For a serviceable and practical coat I would suggest navy blue, brown, maroon, dark green and the many delightful mixtures shown this season.

May be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yards of 34-inch fabric and 1 5/8 yards of 40-inch lining.

COUPON

This pattern will be delivered upon receipt of 15c, coin or stamps, carefully wrapped. Latest Fashion Book 10c. Send all orders to SALEM NEWS PATTERN DEPARTMENT, 243 WEST 17TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

DRIVER INJURED IN ODD ACCIDENT

Crates of Chickens Strike Shield Of Auto As Truck Goes Too Close To Phone Pole

CANTON Sept. 15.—O. S. Beckel, 37, of 337 Maxwell street, Steubenville today is nursing cuts about the hands and face, sustained in one of the oddest accidents reported to police in recent years.

Beckel was driving on Harrisburg road NE. when suddenly several large objects blurred his vision. A few feet in front of his windshield. The next instant the glass had been broken by the objects, accompanied by much squawking and clamor. Beckel looked at his hands and they had been cut. His face fared similarly.

A truck driven by W. J. Frank of Beaver Falls, Pa., loaded with crates of chickens had been driven too close to a telephone pole. A depression in the pavement tilted the truck. The top crates brushed the pole and were knocked against the windshield of Beckel's machine. Beckel was removed to Dr. V. R. Kauffman's hospital.

Two Small Children Burned In Home Fire

JACKSON, MICH., Sept. 16.—Two small children were burned to death early today and their father severely burned in rescuing them from their flaming home south of this city.

The dead were: Jeanette Martin, six, and David Martin, four. The father of the dead children Clarence Martin, 32, carried Juanita, nine, and Irving 11, from the burning home. Both he and Juanita were reported badly burned.

Martin, whose wife was visiting relatives, fell asleep in a chair after a fire in the kitchen range, police said they learned. He awoke to find the house filled with smoke and flames.

Dashing into a bedroom he rescued two of the children, but was unable to bring out the other two.

Jewelry Taken In Roadside Robbery

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 16.—Edward Knoblock of New Castle, Pa., was robbed of jewelry worth $21,000 by two men who knocked him unconscious during a roadside holdup near here early today.

Knoblock who was enroute to New Castle from Elyria, said he was forced to stop between Niles and Youngstown because of motor trouble. A large car drew up beside his automobile, and two men emerged from it held him up and knocked him down when he resisted. Knoblock said.

The loot consisted of two emerald rings and a diamond stickpin.

We may concede any man a right, without doing any man a wrong; but we can favor no one without injuring someone.—Colton.

Honesty is the best policy, but he who acts on that principle is not an honest man.—Whately.

BRUENING AFTER NEW STABILITY
Chancellor Cancels All Of His Engagements To Line Up Government Support
BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Chancellor Bruening today cancelled his schedule of out of town visits and began what was taken by his immediate associates as a strenuous campaign of negotiations with party leaders toward obtaining a workable majority for the government.
Dr. Bruening has received definite pledges of support from President Hindenburg and a considerable number of influential politicians and the impression was gained by observers today that his position would be strong.
Supporters of the Hindenburg-Bruening government which has been ruling Germany since the dissolution of the Reichstag declared emphatically today that the administration would not take up the question of resigning because of the outcome of Sunday's election.
Long Trousers Costly
TOLEDO, Sept. 16.—Lien Tai Huang, known as the "Chinese Landlord," visiting Toledo yesterday doing research work in aviation and collecting material for his book to interpret America to Chinese, said if Chinese farmers would wear their trousers a half-inch longer it would mean $10,000,000 a year to American cotton growers and manufacturers.

Fight Marks Vote In Massachusetts

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—A prohibition issue in the Republican senatorial fight and bitter disputes among Democrats aroused interest in today's Massachusetts primary.
William M. Butler, dry, and Eben S. Draper, wet, both wealthy manufacturers, seek the Republican senatorial nomination.
The Democratic gubernatorial candidates are Joseph B. Ely of Westfield, John J. Cummings of Boston, and former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, who retired a week ago because of illness but whose name remains on the ballot.
Fitzgerald's retirement was the signal for the active entrance of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, into the campaign and the mayor last night was in a fist fight in a radio studio in which Frank J. Donahue, chairman of the Democratic state committee, also was involved.

Brooklyn Battles St. Louis In First Game Of Series Today

THE DAY In Sports

SALEM HIGH FAVORED
BUT CANTON IS TOUGH

In Canton fans backing McKinley High predict defeat for their team when it clashes with Salem High Saturday. Here in Salem fans regard their own team as the favorite to win, some even go as far as to say that the game won't be such a stiff one for the Stonemen and predict that the really tough contests in store for the Red and Black are Alliance, Warren and Youngstown South.

There are no setups in football. Canton McKinley is never an easy victim to any team, and Salem High has never as yet trimmed Canton in football. To think that McKinley is anything but the toughest type of adversary will prove fatal to the Red and Black's chances of winning. Dwight Peabody is rubbing his hands with glee because his team is the under-dog. Coach Stone is saddened because of that attitude.

Last year Salem High had the hardest time trying to win over Cleveland Collinwood. It came out ahead, 7-6. Collinwood invaded Lakeside stadium, doped to lose by a wide margin to Peabody's team. When the final score was figured up Canton had outplayed the Clevelanders all the way, registered more than twice their number of first downs, and still lost, 32-8.

It's not always that the under-dog wins but when he does, he doesn't wait even to give a warning bark.

By request of Charlie Snyder, Paul Cover, Kenny Jewell, Ted Yarwood, Cap Lewis, and others, the Red and Black's schedule for the season is again handed out here. Clip it out and save it:

Sept. 26 or 27—Akron West, here, xxx.

Oct. 3—Leetonia, here, x.

Oct. 10—Warren, here, x.

Oct. 17—New Philadelphia, here, x.

Oct. 24—Youngstown East, here, x.

Nov. 1—At Wellsville.

Nov. 8—At Youngstown South.

Nov. 14—Lisbon, here, x.

Nov. 27—At Alliance, xx.

xx stands for night games; xx a morning affair; xx means Salem officials are making attempts to have the Akron West game played at night.

Paul Fogg, former Salem High star basketball player, is attending school at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant in Akron. He is enrolled in the brake department for a month following which he will return to his duties with John S. Doult here.

Ralph Knepper advanced into the finals of the district golf tournament at Highland golf course, defeating A. Jones of Canton, 3 and 2, Sunday.

It was Knepper's fourth straight victory in the tournament. He will oppose the winner of the Haak-Leopold match, in a 36-hole contest at the course next Sunday in the finals.

William Chalfant, Salem, who also competed in the tourney, has been eliminated after winning three straight matches.

Tommy Schafer and Ray Judge are in South Bend Ind.

Cubs Lose Ground As O'Doul Cracks Homer In Ninth; Dodgers Win

(By The Associated Press)

Once more the pace setters, the Brooklyn Robins, today faced the difficult task of turning back the threatening St. Louis Cardinals, as they did the Chicago Cubs last week, if they are to be the first team under the wire in the boiling National league pennant race.

The Robins, boasting a season's record winning streak of eleven games, today held a one-game margin over the Cards and one and one-half game advantage over the third place Cubs.

While the Robins and Cardinals are battling in a three-game series, the Cubs will be called upon to meet the Giants, all but eliminated from the race but still clinging to that mathematical possibility.

The leaders:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Behind
Brooklyn	84	60	.583
St. Louis	82	60	.577	1
Chicago	82	61	.569	1 1/2
New York	78	65	.545	5 1/2

In turning back the Cincinnati Reds, 13 to 5, yesterday, the Robins won their eleventh consecutive game, beating the Athletics' former 1930 record of ten straight.

Cubs Lose Chance

The Cubs lost a chance to gain valuable ground, when they split a doubleheader with Philadelphia, the Phillies taking the opening slugfest 12 to 11 and Chicago accounting for the nightcap 6 to 4, after Hack Wilson had pounded out his fiftieth home run of the season. Lefty O'Doul's home run with one out in the ninth and the score knotted at 11-all decided the exciting opener. Guy Bush performed brilliantly on the mound to give the Cubs the second.

With Fred Fitzsimmons giving out only three hits, the Giants stayed in the race with a 6 to 1 triumph over the Pirates. Steve Swetonic was equally as brilliant after the first two innings, but in those two frames, the Giants scored five of their six runs.

Washington Gains

Washington managed to pick up a half-game on the idle Athletics in the American league as they trimmed Ted Lyons and the Chicago White Sox, 14 to 9.

If it hadn't been for one bad inning Vic Sorrell would have pitched the Tigers to a triumph over the Yankees. As it was New York defeated Detroit 5 to 3, scoring four of their runs in the second.

The St. Louis Browns and Boston Red Sox divided a doubleheader, the Browns winning the opener 3 to 1, and the Red Sox taking the second, 2 to 1 in eleven innings. Goose Goslin's thirty-second home run in the eighth decided the first in favor of St. Louis while Oliver scored the winning run for the Red Sox in the nightcap after singling, advancing on a sacrifice and scoring on a wild throw.

Canton McKinley High Coaches, Gridders

Here are the players and coaches about whom Canton McKinley High fans are building hopes for a victory over Coach Floyd Stone's Salem gridders Saturday. The coaches are, left to right, Dwight Peabody, Charles Wright, Ward Young and William Matchmore.

Hartzel, a halfback, is a sweet, broken field runner and an excellent passer; Plaver, who has been working some at full, is a good line plunger and a fair kicker, and Hodnick, quarter, is a valuable as a ball lugger.

Smith is a bear on both defense and offense and in addition has shown some ability as a punter.

Radium Poisoning Takes Another Life

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Anna Stasi, 27, is dead and there is one less name on the "book of doom" today.

Radium poisoning, contracted while she painted watch dials for United States Radium corporation from 1918 to 1922, was given as the cause of Mrs. Stasi's death. Fifteen of her fellow workers have succumbed to the slow poison, and 15 times has the "book of doom" been shortened.

The "book" consists of a secret list of company employees who painted dials and who apparently face the same fate. How many names still remain on the book has not been revealed.

WOMEN ASK FOR SEPARATIONS IN PLEAS TO COURT

County Cases Are Many
At Present; Charges
Are Varied

LISBON, Sept. 16.—Charging her husband with willful absence for two years and also gross neglect of duty, Grace Lutton has filed a divorce action against her husband, James W. Lutton, of Lisbon. The couple were married March 6, 1928. Canceled Kennedy has filed an action for divorce against her husband, James O. Kennedy, who rooms at the Terry hotel, East Liverpool, and is employed as a crane-man by the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., at East Liverpool. They were married at New Cumberland, W. Va., July 24, 1928. The petition sets up that the defendant cut and destroyed the clothing of the plaintiff and was fined in municipal court at East Liverpool, that he struck the plaintiff, and that he has been guilty of habitual drunkenness for two years. In addition to a decree the plaintiff asks an order for counsel fees, temporary alimony and upon final hearing restoration to her maiden name, Canceled Kennedy.

Liverpool Divorce Up
Sarah M. Rollins has filed a divorce action against her husband, John B. Rollins, 402 Sugar street, East Liverpool. They were married at East Liverpool Oct. 15, 1925 and have one child. The petition sets up the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, and charges the defendant with associating with another woman for the last two years. Rollins is employed at the Chester, W. Va., mill restaurant. Mary B. Shobert, 394 Sharp avenue, Salem, has filed her petition for divorce from her husband, Paul Shobert, 489 West Pershing street, Salem. They were married at Youngstown Nov. 5, 1927. Shobert is charged with extreme cruelty, in that he ordered the plaintiff from their home and that she had to live by her own exertions, and also with gross neglect of duty.

This petition, filed by Metzger, McCarthy & McCorkhill, asks the court for an order for temporary alimony, and upon final hearing that she be restored to her maiden name, Mary Bruckner.

NOW SEE WHAT KONJOLA DID FOR THIS MAN

Lost Twenty Pounds in Two Months—
Had to Quit Work—Then New Medicine Brings Relief

MR. JOHN F. BAY

"Five weeks ago I was a greatly discouraged man," said Mr. John F. Bay, 12208 Oakfield avenue, Cleveland. "I had indigestion, constipation, heart palpitation and loss of appetite. I lost 20 pounds in two months. After every meal came gas, bloating and distress. For two weeks I had to give up my job as a buffer. I was very nervous and loathed food. I had about come to the conclusion that there was no help for me, but I kept reading so much about Konjola that I decided to give this new medicine a trial. With the first bottle I felt a change for the better, and as the treatment progressed all my ills faded away one by one. I eat and sleep well and get up thoroughly rested. I can eat anything without misery or distress, and I am working harder than ever and enjoying it. My family joins me in this word of praise for Konjola."

Konjola is a new and different medicine containing the juices of 22 natural plants combined with other medicinal ingredients. Konjola works with the sufferer's food and eliminates poisons and restores normal activity to the important functional organs.

Konjola is sold in Salem, Ohio, at the J. H. Lease Drug Co. three stores, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

MOVIES

AT THE STATE

"On Your Back"

One of the most forceful and at the same time most logical audible screen plots ever seen or heard at the State theater, "On Your Back" is now being seen and heard with Irene Rich as the brilliant Fifth Avenue modiste who tells the lovely ladies she meets to wear their brains on their back.

The story is a Fox movietone production of Rita Weinman's intriguing character analysis which appeared earlier this season in magazine form. It deals with the skyrocket like rise to fame of an ambitious dressmaker who rose to success through the vanity of her customers.

"Wear Your Brains On Your Back" is adopted early in her career as an enticement for girls of the chorus, and actresses, to pay more than they can afford for her fashionable creations.

Lavish gowns and fragile delicate negligees are the bait with which she lures them into her establishment. Credit extended freely is still further inducement for the girls to wear her expensive finery, although payment is invariably exacted for them.

The dressmaker soon learns that many men are anxious to meet her customers. What better way than to have them meet casually over tea in her shop? This becomes her policy and she soon finds that men will quickly pay the bills if they are informed that their friends are in debt.

But her mistake comes when she induces her son's sweetheart to accept valuable dresses for which she cannot pay and then expects her to get the money from a wealthy man who also admires her.

The outcome of this tangle in which ambition clashes with mother love is fearfully portrayed by an excellent cast which includes, besides Miss Rich, H. B. Warner, Raymond Hackett, Marion Shilling, Ika Chase, Wheeler Oakman, Rose Dicke and Arthur Hoyt.

AT THE GRAND

"The Locked Door"

"The Locked Door," which opened auspiciously at the Grand theater last night, appeals to this reviewer as one of the most entertaining and enjoyable talking pictures shown locally for many months.

Throughout a background of vivid action, with floating drink palaces, police raids and a murder, a beautiful romance is intelligently woven with tense drama and fast action. The whole is a pleasing and amusing advertisement and demonstrates more than any film of recent times the great progress the talkies have made toward their ultimate goal of perfection.

The picture's boast of an all-star cast is well justified in the performances of Rod La Rocque, Barbara Stanwyck, the stage star of "The Noose" and "Burlesque," William Boyd, the dynamic star of the play, "What Price Glory," and pretty Betty Bronson. These four stellar players lend a quiet realism to their parts that is a welcome innovation.

Mack Swain, Zasu Pitts and Harry Stubbs are splendid in their comedy roles, and Harry Mestayer as the distrustful attorney provides a very personal representation of truculent officialdom.

The story of "The Locked Door" concerns the adventures of a young woman who is innocently caught in the meshes of a rotter, marries another and is forced into a compromising situation with the man to save the honor of her sister-in-law.

There are many dramatic moments in the picture. One of the best occurs when Miss Stanwyck, as Ann Reagan, attempts to take the blame for La Rocque's shooting. Her husband, William Boyd, takes the blame upon himself.

Old Strife Recalled In Wisconsin Voting

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 16.—The political issues which tore asunder the Republican party in Wisconsin 27 years ago, were re-submitted to the voters today in a modernized form.

The biennial primary election brought forward as candidates for governor, Walter J. Kohler, the millionaire incumbent, and Philip P. LaFollette, whose father founded the progressive movement.

These two men continued the most vicious campaign since the days when Wisconsin rocked with battles between the elder LaFollette and the regular candidates.
